

Cherish

We meet many people in our lives.
Some are here for a long time
And some are not
But no matter how long they are here for
Always cherish every moment
Because you never know when those moments may end
That's the thing with friendship
There are bright moments
And dark moments
Calm moments
And rough moments
Friendships will always be uncertain
One day everything could change
But remember
Always cherish every moment
Because you never know when those moments will end

~Jess Frew