

Just Friends.

She tries, but she fails. He helps, she succeeds.
He suffers and mourns. She consoles him and he becomes joyful.
She is self-conscious. He shows her worth and she beams with joy.
He cries in solidarity. She lends a hand and he opens up.
There is nothing to see here, just friendship.
Cemented with platonic love.
She asks him, "Will our friendship ever end?"
When Hell freezes over."